I LECTURER: Peter Aeberhard Class Days: 8 & 9 July, 2026

 Peter Aeberhard brings over three decades of experience in conflict transformation, mediation, and strategic leadership across government, international NGOs, and foundations. With expertise in both high-level policy advising and field-based implementation, Peter has served as a political advisor to the Swiss Ministry of Foreign Affairs, country director for SWISSAID in Tanzania and Niger, and consultant in fragile and post-conflict contexts such as Somalia, Kenya, and the Sahel. His work bridges the gap between systemic leadership and on-the-ground mediation, always with a focus on sustainable conflict resolution.

Core Expertise

Mediation and Conflict Resolution: Mediator with experience in trauma-informed conflict management. Skilled in fostering sustainable, inclusive solutions through culturally sensitive approaches in fragile and multicultural contexts.

Strategic Conflict Prevention: Expertise in systems thinking and anticipatory strategies for preventing escalation of violence. Focus on linking individual leadership to collective security and resilience.

Leadership in Fragile Contexts: Coaching leaders from civil society, governments, and security institutions to adopt conflict-sensitive and trauma-informed approaches.

Training & Facilitation: Over 20 years of experience in designing and leading workshops on conflict resolution, negotiation, mediation, and intercultural dialogue in Europe, Africa, and beyond.

Peter's recent publications include Addressing Trauma: The Missing Element in Security Sector Governance and Reform (DCAF, 2024), where he highlights the integration of trauma-awareness into peacebuilding and leadership frameworks.

Essence of Training

This two-day program, “Empowering Leaders for Conflict Prevention and Mediation”, supports participants in developing conflict-sensitive leadership skills and trauma-informed mediation capacities.

Day 1 introduces participants to the fundamentals of leadership vision, systems thinking, and conflict prevention, giving them practical frameworks to understand conflict dynamics and anticipate escalation.

Day 2 emphasizes mediation, negotiation, and trauma-informed leadership, enabling participants to apply culturally sensitive tools in practice-oriented simulations.

The unit balances theoretical input, applied exercises, and reflective learning, ensuring that participants not only gain conceptual clarity but also practical skills for their professional environments.

Training specifics

Day 1 Topic: Foundations of Empowered Leadership and Conflict Prevention

Objective: Build a strong foundation for conflict resolution by integrating leadership awareness with systems thinking and conflict analysis.

Topics Covered

1. Personal Vision and Leadership in Conflict Settings
 - Clarifying leadership goals and values in high-stakes contexts.
 - Understanding personal triggers and resilience factors.
2. Systems Thinking for Conflict Prevention
 - Using causal loop diagrams to analyze conflict drivers.
 - Identifying feedback loops between trauma, mistrust, and dialogue.
3. Interactive Case Study & Reflective Strategy Session
 - Group exercise on a multi-layered conflict scenario.
 - Application of systems thinking and reflective leadership strategies.

Methodology

- Vision-mapping and self-reflection exercises
- Systems analysis with CLDs (Causal Loop Diagrams)
- Group case study and guided peer reflections

Day 2 Topic: Mediation, Negotiation, and Trauma-Informed Leadership

Objective: Equip participants with practical skills in mediation and negotiation, integrating trauma awareness and cultural sensitivity into leadership and decision-making.

Topics Covered

1. Trauma-Informed Mediation and Cultural Sensitivity
 - Mediation tools that address trauma impacts.
 - Reading the spoken and unspoken in cross-cultural contexts.
2. Strategic Negotiation and Empowered Decision-Making
 - Negotiation styles and managing power asymmetries.
 - Practical tools: Interests vs. positions and cultural filters.
3. Simulation & Action Planning Workshop
 - Role-play exercises simulating high-stakes mediation settings.
 - Peer feedback and facilitator coaching.
 - Individual action planning: integrating new skills into professional practice.

Methodology

- Trauma-sensitive role plays and scenario-based negotiations
- Reflective coaching and structured peer feedback
- Individual action planning with measurable steps and indicators

Expected Outcome

- By the end of the training, participants will:
- Clarify their personal leadership vision in conflict settings.
- Apply systems thinking tools to prevent conflict escalation.
- Develop trauma-informed mediation and negotiation skills.
- Strengthen their ability to manage power dynamics and cultural differences in practice.
- Leave with a concrete action plan for integrating insights into their organizational and regional work.

II LECTURER: Ms. Sibylle Rupprecht Class Days: 10 & 11 July, 2026

 For 30 years, Sibylle Rupprecht headed profit centers, SMEs or international NGOs. Day 1 Topic: Ethical Leadership - Key to Social Peace and Justice

Introduction of Topic

From accounting scandals, political unethical behaviour to pollution to executive compensation, Business Ethics has always been a hot topic. It is related to the broader field of Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR), plays a role in ethical investing and may or may not influence sustainable ("green") business as well.

Ethical leadership is about leading with integrity, courage, and purpose. It's not just about making the right decisions, but about inspiring others to do the same. True leaders set the standard by putting values into action, creating trust, and shaping cultures where fairness, respect, and accountability thrive. By modeling values-driven behavior, ethical leaders inspire others, cultivate a culture of honesty, and create lasting impact that prioritizes people as much as progress.

Building ethical leadership into the organisation culture, make it more likely to attract top employees, donors, voters, clients and supporters.

Day 2 Topic: Advocacy as a Game Changer - move the needle

Introduction of Topic

Advocacy is a powerful tool for driving meaningful change, giving voice to communities, influencing policies, and shaping a more just and equitable society. By raising awareness, mobilizing support, and challenging systems of inequality, advocacy acts as a game changer—turning ideas into action and transforming individual concerns into collective impact. It empowers people not only to be heard but also to actively participate in creating sustainable solutions for the future.

Planning an advocacy campaign involves setting clear goals, identifying target audiences, and crafting a strong message that inspires action. It requires strategic steps—researching the issue, building partnerships, selecting the right platforms, and outlining a timeline—to ensure that efforts are focused, impactful, and sustainable.

Day 1 Topic: Introduction to International Humanitarian Law

Day 1 Topic Introduction

- What is International Humanitarian Law (IHL)
- How must Prisoners of War be treated
- What is the difference between IHL and Human Rights Law

On the first day of the program, students will embark on a journey through the origins and evolution of International Humanitarian Law (IHL). They will learn about the early developments of IHL and how it was implemented in armed conflicts to protect those affected by the horrors of war. The session will offer an in-depth exploration of the First World War, which marked a critical moment in history with millions of prisoners of war (POWs) held by various parties. The suffering and poor treatment of these individuals highlighted the need for more robust protections, ultimately leading to the establishment of the 1929 Geneva Convention.

This landmark convention provided a framework for the humane treatment of POWs, outlining their rights and the responsibilities of the powers detaining them. Students will analyse the key provisions of the Geneva Convention and its significance in shaping modern IHL.

In addition, the course will cover the relationship between International Humanitarian Law and Human Rights Law, two distinct yet sometimes overlapping bodies of law. Students will assess the scope and purpose of each, exploring how they work in different contexts to protect individuals in times of peace and conflict. This foundational session will provide a strong understanding of the legal frameworks that govern wartime conduct and the protection of those involved in or affected by armed conflicts.

Day 2 Topic: Protection of Civilians and War Crime Matters

Day 2 Topic Introduction

- Treatment of Civilian Persons in time of war
- How are war criminals prosecuted under IHL
- What measures are available for implementing IHL?
- What is the ICRC's role in ensuring respect for IHL?

On the second day, students will explore the profound impact of the Second World War on the revision of International Humanitarian Law (IHL). This session will focus on the introduction of special protections for civilians, a key development following the widespread devastation of the war. Participants will also examine how internal armed conflicts contributed to the expansion of IHL, addressing the complexities of warfare within states.

Key topics include an in-depth understanding of war crimes, the legal frameworks for prosecuting war criminals, and the various mechanisms available for enforcing IHL. The critical role of the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) in promoting and ensuring respect for IHL will also be discussed. This comprehensive session will provide students with a deeper understanding of the evolution of legal protections in armed conflicts and the importance of accountability in modern warfare.

The day will conclude with a comprehensive test, designed to assess students' understanding of the content covered over the two days. This evaluation will ensure students have a solid grasp of the key legal frameworks, historical contexts, and principles of accountability that shape modern IHL.
