Trainer Introduction

Dr. Andrea Marrone (PhD) trained UN staff, NATO and civil servants in the EU and has been selected as a consultant delivering training for the Council of Europe on human rights and rule of law issues. Since 2004 Dr. Marrone is employed in the Office of the Prosecutor of the International Criminal Court, the first permanent and treaty based international judicial institution established to help end impunity for the perpetrators of the most serious crimes of concern to the international community. In 2016 Dr. Marrone worked for Cordaid, a development and humanitarian relief agency, as an Expert Security & Justice. He has extensive professional experience facilitating development cooperation and peacebuilding in multiple conflicts and post-conflict country-situations in Africa, Asia, Middle East and Europe and prepared proposals for the programming of good governance for global donors. (World Bank, UNDP, EC, IOM and other UN specialized agencies).

4 Days Course Description

Training Courses in Migration, Migration Law, International Law & Human Trafficking.

The courses presents the key aspects of the migration phenomenon from different angles, including the obligations and concerns of States and the rights and responsibilities of migrants. The workshop includes an analysis of the international legal instruments that relate to migration, as well as the legal framework concerning other categories of persons in need of international protection, such as refugees, victims of trafficking and smuggled persons.

Courses Objectives and Learning Outcomes

- Promote law, principles and policies relating to the protection of migrants and other persons in need of protection;
- Enhance participants' skills to develop and apply policies and programmes in conformity with International Law;
- Strengthen participants' ability to contribute to the development of effective migration management systems;
- Encourage the sharing of good practices and experiences among participants and with an international expert.

Learning Outcomes

The courses is developed primarily to benefit mid and senior-level government officials involved in the formulation and application of legislation and policies affecting migrant persons. Members of the civil society and the academia, who could positively influence the safeguard of migrants' rights and advocate for their protection, are also accepted as participants. The audience has the opportunity to analyse the complex nature of today's migratory phenomenon, including trends, causes, journeys and associated risks, integration in the country of destination and return and reintegration in the country of origin. The course studies the key components of migration management and governance, and the link with sustainable development.

Teaching Methodologies

The courses strikes a balance between theory and practice and is delivered through a participatory and creative teaching methodology, aimed at facilitating the learning process and implementing the knowledge gained throughout the training. Sessions include lectures, presentations, case studies, group work, audio-visual support, and other activities, which respond to the various learning styles of a diversified audience. Throughout the training, participants and expert facilitators are able to share best practices and experiences together with examples of developing learning curricula on topics related to Migration, Migration Law, International Law & Human Trafficking.
