I LECTURER: Ms. Hoenig Gundhild A. from Switzerland

2 Whole class days in 3 & 4 August, 2022

Gundhild has a background in Economics and Psychology & is passionate about people, their potential & human issues. While following her success as a Human Resources & Organisational Development Professional, she founded her consultancy (1999), with Switzerland as the hub for international services, e.g. accompanying people & organisations in transition across cultures & geographical regions, fostering collective intelligence using innovative methods for a positive, non-coercive organisation transformation & people development – moving towards trusted collaboration & workplace evolution, within global-, public organisations, incl. emerging markets. Gundhild is a valued Lecturer, Consultant, Mediator and Coach. She is Member of the Board of SIETAR Switzerland (Society for Intercultural Education, Training and Research); EBBF (Ethical Business Building the Future), advisory board member, Indo-German Chamber of Commerce, valued as a trusted guide & cultural navigator, to make global development & leadership journeys meaningful.

Day 1 Topic: Effective conflict intervention through Conflict-Coaching and Mediation across Cultures

What leads to readiness for peace and reconciliation? What options do we have when cultures collide in our work and world? Away from escalating to empowerment by creating an understanding how to resolve conflicts effectively. Providing the space to promote and sustain peace - balancing inner & outer work and competence development for a stimulating engaging invitation to others - to promote and sustain peace.

A dynamic approach on how to work with differences and challenges across cultures. A phased and inclusive course of action showing a successful path and contributing to a non-coercive conflict transformation.

Participants in this course have the chance to discover:

- What are the principles of conflict-coaching and meditation across cultures?
- How to work with the conflict story? Approaching conflict through the lenses of power, emotion, and identity.
- How to address and resolve conflicts in a constructive and non-violent manner.
- Developing and improving a variety of healthy conflict response skills, envisioning the ideal outcome.

Methodologies: A balanced approach - based on the flow of the programme day, tailored to the needs of our valued participants, the programme will include lectures, phased role plays, creative journaling, video feedback, collaborative interaction, video clips, a case study and individual work, to name a few.

Day 2 Topic: Diversity and Inclusion – intention and approach across organizations, cultures and faiths.

Diversity is the mix and Inclusion is to make the mix work well – while going beyond and cultivating a culture of belonging! We need a diversity that empowers us to use our differences to create something better, together. This course aims to create insights and to shed light on ways to make diversity work!

Focused questions will include:

- What creates Diversity & why does Inclusion matter?
- How to empower others and to be empowered to make best use of differences?
- How to foster an inclusive work culture and embrace diversity for growth?
- How to overcome potential obstacles like unconscious bias, etc.?

We will explore ways to leverage diversity and inclusion - promoting belonging, engagement and evolving best work practices and discover inclusive strategies and the role of leaders modelling diversity and inclusion. Depending on interest - furthermore, we will take a look at the impact of diversity on the readiness for peace and reconciliation and conflict transformation.

Methodologies: A balanced approach – based on the flow of the programme day, tailored to the needs of our valued participants, the programme will include lectures, collaborative interaction, video clips, phased role plays, a case study and individual work, to name a few.

She studied management of international organizations at the University of Fribourg and holds an executive certificate in international advocacy from the Graduate Institute in Geneva.

Day 1 Topic: Ethical Leadership – the great reset after the pandemic and vector of peace

Peacebuilding often involve many different levels of actors from the smallest local interventions to the negotiations between international actors.

Advocacy needs to take this into consideration. At larger level, more formal advocacy campaigns promoting peace and intercommunal understanding might be called for. During this training day, we will look at the different building blocks of a campaign in order to learn how to build an advocacy campaign which can be rolled out locally but also at wider level, who needs to be influenced, informed and trained, what means are needed, how to communicate and which means to use for what target groups.

Methodology: The training is interactive, building on participants' knowledge and experience. Individual and work group discussions include conceptual input and are based on hands-on learning methods. Tools and concepts are introduced and case studies are examined. This workshop will equip participants with the necessary tools to start designing, developing and running advocacy campaigns. The participants will have the opportunity to make a basic design of a campaign

Day 2 Topic: Advocacy & Communication Including practical exercises

Building on the first day, we will look at the means of mediation to solve a conflict. Mediation is a dynamic, structured, interactive process where an impartial third party (the mediator) assists disputing parties in resolving conflict through the use of specialized communication and negotiation techniques. The mediator uses a wide variety of techniques to guide the process in a constructive direction and to help the parties find their optimal solution. A mediator is facilitative in that she/he manages the interaction between parties and facilitates open communication. This brief training will look at the basis of the mediation, a number of techniques that facilitate the work of a mediator such as being aware of biases and prejudices, looking for the hidden agenda, as well as a short glimpse into body language and especially facial expressions.

Methodology: The workshop gives participants the necessary skills to understand conflicts that may arise in a multicultural environment and how it can be handled constructively. We will look at tools to tackle professional and personal disputes. Participants will have the opportunity to discover through practical exercises and especially through a concrete mediation case, this means for conflict resolutions which is extremely useful in many work and private situations.
